“ You wrote Mr Casper. That is his place of birth not his name. And why write he was a teacher. Google Mr Slates Waco Texas and you will know what memories he left behind. Monster should have rotted and died in jail.

Who are you? You are a horrible person to write such a comment. You are the monster!

To the Lost Youth. My friends son was traumatized by Mr. Slates for awhile. Their mother went to bat for him immediately. Took some years to relinquish litigation. Nothing or no amount of money can bring back someone's stolen innocent youth. Lost forever. Feel for his family. Odds are, they may not have known. He has met his Judge now. He will b reprimanded someway. God have mercy on his soul.

I use to work with Mr. Slates wife and she was in shock when he got caught doing what he did. She just would not believe it for the longest! I just hope that he admitted to what he did and ask forgiveness from God because that is the only way he will make heaven his home. Jesus died for his sins just like everybody else.

I was the girl who first spoke out against slates. My mother was the one who sued the school district because ms.peters didn't want to ruin her or the schools reputation. I didn't know he passed away. He was charged for 26 Kids. I was upset because he only did about 7 out of 8 years. He was released early on good conduct time. He has affected all of us in various negative ways and all we can do is try to live our lives and move in a different direction.

I am shocked that you all would write this on someone's obituary link. Shame on all of you. No matter how you feel about him, write about it on your ridiculous facebook pages or in a nonsensical blog that no one cares to read. The family had nothing to do with what he was charged for and we, (yes I am a family member) do not want to see your hateful comments here. Have some tact and common curtesy/decency for our sakes.
