“ Dad was the best grandfather any grandchild could ever ask for. He and my mom spent hours hanging bright red apples to the apple tree in the front yard so that my three boys Matthew, Chase, and Adam could pick apples from his tree since the birds and weather had destroyed the blooms and apples that year. Dad and mom chose perfect red apples from the store and paid top dollar for those apples then spent half a day using fishing line to attach the apples to the branches. Dad and mom enjoyed watching my boys pick apples from the tree that had magically appeared for them to pick. The boys always enjoyed sneaking off to nana and pa's house because they always had treats for all the grandkids. They loved to go to yard sales in search of "treasures" one day they were in Missouri and bought Chase a "gremlin/goulisn creature" for 50cents at a yard sale Chase nick named that creature with grandmas help "wooly booger" it was an ugly creature from Star Wars that became Chase's favorite toy. Fifty cents was well spent that day and "Wooly" is still his favorite toy even though I thought the toy was ugly with long nails and razor sharp teeth. Grandpa and Grandma loved each grandchild dearly; however each grandchild had a unique special bound with them. Dad was a simple man who enjoyed simple things in life. Dad loved tinkering in the yard, watching the grandkids play, and was very proud of his children's accomplishments in life. Each of us will miss dad in our own unique way.
