“ Both of my children had his class. My daughter had him last year and my son this year. They both talked about how kind he was and how much he loved his family. They said at the bottom of their bell work for each class he would post a picture of one of his grandkids and once they had finished their work he would tell a story about them. He obviously had a huge heart and made a tremendous impression on my children and many others. Such a bless and so thankful my children had the chance to know him. Many prayers to his family!
