“ JC was a good neighbor to those living in the Imboden Housing Authority apartments. He was always willing to help jump start a car or tinker around to figure out what was wrong when jumping it didn't do the trick. He loved all of the residents dogs and they loved him because he knew exactly where to scratch them. He also loved the roses that grew by his porch; he said his grandmother taught him to talk to the flowers and they would thrive. JC's presence on Circle Drive will be sorely missed. I am certain he is now in Heaven playing his guitar and singing with the angels.... Janet and Lilybug
