“ *Madge was not only my beloved Mother-In-law, but she was an excellent friend to me. The first time that I met her, she made me tear up when she hugged me tightly and said, " I want you to know I have prayed & prayed for a woman just like you for Ronald." He had lost his first wife in a tragic car accident. From that point on, we had an instant loving friendship. She took pleasure in introducing me as her daughter even though I was the daughter-in-law. She had a personality that would make anyone fall in love with her. She was well known for her cheerfulness, friendliness, kindness, generosity and perseverance as well as many other good and wholesome attributes. She left behind a legacy of helping to meet the needs of others. One of which is a story of her outreach to a foreign exchange student from Kenya. She opened her home & heart to Rachel from Kenya to live with her while going to school. Madge was one of God's true servants --always behind the scenes quietly helping others.
