“ Hi Mom I miss you more and more everyday. There are so many times I wish I could just touch you and know you are there. I love you, you are the greatest Mom ever. When I think about all you had to go through in life and about how you always trusted God it makes me so proud. You taught me how to be a true woman of God and when I fail I can always hear you say have you prayed about it God will work it out he will make a way. I love you Mom and I know you are happy in Heaven see you when I get there.

“ My Grandmother was a wonderful lady!!! I remember her holding my hand as we walked to the store when I was a young girl. I remember her holding my hand and wiping my tears when my dad passed away. I remembered her holding my hand and telling me things were going to be ok when I divorced my husband of twelve years. I remember the bedtime stories she told me. My favorite was the "Good Little Girl & The Bad Little Girl". I remember when her memories of me faded and I cried but I will always remember her. My most precious memory was holding her frail little hand in mine. Stroking her hair and praying for her. You see my Grandmother taught me compassion & the ability to love another person. In the end I was holding her hand and telling her it was ok to go on home where she belonged (with our Lord & Saviour). I left the hospital knowing that my precious Grandmother would be going home to see Jesus & I grieve the loss of her not being here but rejoicing because she is in HEAVEN!!! I will see you again someday. I know you will be waiting. I love you grandma. Thank You for being the wonderful woman you were...

“ Mom,

I could not have asked for a better Mother-In-Law. You have given me love and loving open arms. Thank you for being the kind of Christian mother my family could look up to. God has given you a better journey now. You will always be missed.

“ Aunt Bobbie I have very fond memories of you. You were always such a sweet caring lady and would do anything for anyone. I also know you loved the Lord and served him daily for as long as I can remember. Though all of your family and friends will miss you I know you are rejoicing with Jesus and all of your loved ones that have gone before you. I love You!! Your niece Joyce Ann.
