“ Grandma was a wonderful woman she always had the best intentions for all of us grandkids and if we did something she didn't approve of she would let us know. One of my fondest memories I had with grandma and I had plenty more but I can remember when I was pregnant with Ashton she told me Rhonda I want to go to Batesville to the material shop and get some material for quilts and go look at yard sales that way while on the way and on the way back through she needed to stop by uncle Charles and aunt Sherry house so we did and had a good time when we got there at uncle and aunts house they had surprised me with a baby shower and that is one of the many memories I have of my sweet loving grandmother besides the last few weeks with her have been good to . I love u grandma and will miss u but I know u are not hurting and are rejoicing with everyone tell grandpa and the rest of family I say hi and until we see each other again keep being our guardian angels

“ My fondest memories of my grandma was the ones of her teaching me how to cook She taught me how to make biscuits and she taught me how to make gravy She made the best gravy ☐ She also had a sense of humor and liked to tell jokes sometimes She told me once to sit straight and put my knees together if she put a dime in between them and tell me as long as I kept the dime right there I would never have to worry about getting pregnant 😂 She also taught me all her superstitions she lived by💙that I still smile every time I hear one
