“ I remember jumping out of the barn, running down the rows of the fields and playing in the mud at your parents house. I remember playing church, your mom would let us have grape juice and crackers. I remember her smile. We were so sad when you guys moved from the farm. Even today, it's Estel and Geraline's place. I was glad to see her at moms funeral and was sorry I didn't get to visit with her more. Mom (Mary Combs) always loved your parents. She talked about them often. Goodbye Geraline, thank you for putting up with us kids.
